

CALDER WOULD AMEND
POSTAL PENSION LAW*Senator Praises Loyalty of Employees.

Senator Calder told a meeting of postal employees last night at Maenherchor Hall, 203 East Fifty-sixth street, that in the next session of Congress he will work for amendment to the retirement law to make its provisions more liberal.

Senator Calder lauded the loyalty and unselfishness of employees of the postal service and said he has worked in their interest with pleasure.

"Two years ago I was glad to assist in the enactment of the retirement law, which your organization had been urging for a quarter of a century," he said. "This law, of course, is not entirely satisfactory in its provisions, and there is legislation pending now to make it more liberal in its treatment of men who have arrived at retirement age."

"I am quite sure that the people generally do not understand that the civil service employees pay practically all of this pension himself. From the day he enters the service until the day he retires there is deducted from his pay a certain percentage of his compensation, which is applied to the general retirement fund, and that fact removes the last objection on the part of anyone to providing in the law that this retirement pay shall be sufficiently large to take care of the superannuated employee in the proper manner when the time comes for him to retire from the service."

TIEUP ON SECOND AVENUE "L."

Short Circuit Halts Cars for More Than an Hour.

A short circuit developed in a train on the Second Avenue elevated line last night, causing a block between Twenty-third and Forty-second streets of more than an hour. A wrecking crew was called. When the accident happened lights in all trains operating in that area went out and some of the passengers became excited.

While repairs were being made most of the passengers left the trains. A few remained until traffic was resumed.
